

the ONE that Failed again

by Guru Mani H

I failed again this morning but hope that you don't know the secret life that I now lead and try to never show

I failed again this morning and hurt the ones so near and though my love for them is real I see they live in fear

I failed again this morning just like each day before I used to try and stop it but don't bother any more

I failed again this morning and guilt runs strong inside instead of go and face the truth I'd really rather hide

I failed again this morning I feel like such a fake and if you knew that thing I do your friendship you would take

I failed again this morning I may as well just die there's nothing that will ever change so there's no point to try

I failed again this morning it stresses me right out when once I was so sure of things I'm now just full of doubt

I failed again this morning gave up before the start and now the consequences are my loved ones will depart

I failed again this morning all will-power has now gone and things just go from bad to worse with breaking of each dawn

I failed again this morning I can't believe it's so things are now much worse than before I've reached an all-time low

I failed again this morning this project now I'll quit I've given all my heart to this yet all has turned to shit

I failed again this morning this habit's just too strong it's got a hold upon my life

I constantly do wrong

I failed again this morning it took me by surprise temptation was so hard to see when dressed in a disguise

I failed again this morning and lying now in bed the thought just whirring 'round inside is I'd be better dead

- - - - -

I failed again this afternoon what more is there to say? except to hope in future days I'll be a different way

I failed again this afternoon
I gave in much too fast I wish that I could start again erasing all the past

I failed again this afternoon but though I've lost my hope if someone will believe in me I possibly might cope

I failed again this afternoon like those who've gone before and knowing others struggled too helps me to try some more

I failed again this afternoon my spirit is so weak I'm open now to divine help which cautiously I seek

I failed again this afternoon so this is now my cry if someone please can help me out I'll give my all to try

I failed again this afternoon but day's not ended yet so I will focus on what's left and past mistakes forget

- - - - -

I failed again this evening but my dream stays alive and though it seems impossible towards it I will strive

I failed again this evening but fatal it won't be I'll now look deep within my soul and fight until I'm free

I failed again this evening but though I took step back it was much less than time before which means I'm still on track

I failed again this evening but now I know the signs so road to my achievement can be drawn on different lines

I failed again this evening but know my big mistake would be from this experience to nothing learn or take

I failed again this evening ten thousand times I've tried and learning what will never work has now become my guide

I failed again this evening but dwell on it I'll not the past will stay behind closed door so future it won't rot

I failed again this evening but with the rising sun experience is now my friend to turn my 'lost' to 'won'

I failed again this evening but viewpoint I will change to see this as essential step my life to re-arrange

I failed again this evening but give up I won't do I'll take deep breath and swallow pride then see this whole thing through

I failed again this evening but through this present mess perspective will with time make clear and lead to my success

I failed again this evening but failure I am not my journey hasn't reached the end it's not my final lot

I failed again this evening but though I sleep with pain the one's who've gone before me would shout out "just try again"

I failed again this evening but get back up I will I'll not let this define my life there's hope within me still