

the Heroic ONE

by Guru Mani H

I want to be a hero
and wear a bright red cape then find poor souls in need of help and make sure they escape

I want to be a hero
and see my name in lights to wear a mask upon my head with underpants on tights

I want to be a hero
and have my time of fame with paparazzi following all shouting out my name

I want to be a hero
and do just one thing good 'cos then I'll feel my life did count I lived as best I could

I want to be a hero
and have colossal power to fly into disaster zones and always save the hour

- - - - -

I'll never be a hero
'cos let's just face the fact there's nothing that's heroic in the way I speak or act

I'll never be a hero
it's simply too much stress if I had burden of the world I'd make a total mess

I'll never be a hero
and challenge status quo I'd rather keep a friendly vibe than make another foe

I'll never be a hero
who'll face the fight and stay when evil people show their face I'd turn and run away

I'll never be a hero
I think too much of 'me' and when I meet someone in need pretend that I can't see

- - - - -

I need to find a hero but not one on TV someone who'll take an interest in a nobody like me

I need to find a hero
someone with mystic power who'll be there when I summon them at any given hour

I need to find a hero
a Universal Force who'll have the power in their hands to change my whole life's course

I need to find a hero
someone who'll pay the price to take my life so dull and bland returning it with spice

I need to find a hero
someone to set me free who'll turn around this life of chains and give new start to me

- - - - -

So if you'll be my hero and if you want the task 'Come and show yourself to me' for this is what I ask